3. DESCRIPTION OF SERVICES

3.1 Webinars

3.1.1 Description of webinars

In accordance with the framework set out on the Purchase Order, IPD offers three ways of creating or associating with webinars:

- Webinair: IPD makes the platform available and provides technical support allowing the Customer to upload their own webinars (advertiser content) via their Customer account. Customers can add up to nine organisers responsible for planning, launching and hosting webinars, etc., to their Customer account. Customers can arrange the number of webinars, as set out on the Purchase Order, throughout the term of the Contract via their Customer account and non-simultaneously.
- Talk Enterprise: IPD provides Customer support, including defining webinar topics alongside the Customer (one scoping meeting), suggesting editors and expert speakers, conducting interviews with expert speakers (four interviews maximum), preparing production books based on specifications drawn up with the Customer (subject, tone, etc.) through to validation thereof following a reasonable number of exchanges, and streaming the webinar on the platform. In collaboration with the Customer, IPD will specify streaming dates and take responsibility for all technical operations related to streams.
- Talk de la Redaction: the Customer sponsors editorial content created and streamed by IPD. The Customer should choose from the topics offered by IPD on the basis of the editorial positioning of their websites and latest news, as well as the topics they wish to associate with their brand.

IPD may suggest technical changes and/or changes to content upload dates in order to optimise webinar streams in relation to scheduling, operational and audience constraints concerning the support website.

The Customer recognises users may rate speakers and comment on webinars. Where applicable, the Customer understands comments will not be subject to any prior moderation, which means IPD cannot be held responsible for the illegality of any such comments under any circumstances.

Regardless of the nature of a webinar, services shall include its live streaming, as well as access to a replay for the entirety of the duration of the Contract and until its withdrawal in accordance with the terms and conditions defined in article 4.3.

3.1.2 Booking – Postponing – Cancelling webinars

IPD's acceptance of requests for dates (hour/day/month/year or week/year) sent by the Customer via the schedule attached to the Purchase Order are subject to availability and (i) confirmation from the dedicated account manager and (ii) suggestions of alternative dates in the event of a lack of availability, which will take place within three days of receipt of the Customer's schedule.

All webinars listed on the Purchase Order must be used up by the Customer on the dates agreed between the parties in accordance with the above paragraph or, in relation to advertiser webinars, for the agreed duration, as specified on the Purchase Order.

Webinars that remain unused may not be carried over into a new contractual period, reimbursed or subject to any compensation or reparations for any reason whatsoever under any circumstances.

Webinars may only be postponed once up to a limit of three postponements for all webinars ordered for the period specified on the Purchase Order. Streaming postponed webinars cannot take place beyond the end of the Contract, as outlined on the Purchase Order. Postponements/cancellations must be requested no later than 30 days before the Monday of the week in which the webinar was originally scheduled to be streamed. Otherwise, the webinar in question will be considered used up and may not be the subject of a postponement or reimbursement, nor any compensation or reparations, for any reason whatsoever. Furthermore, if a postponement/cancellation concerns a webinar due to be produced in the studio or filmed by a director, fixed compensation of two thousand euros, excluding taxes (€2,000, excl. tax), shall be invoiced to the Customer against which no claims can be made.

In the event of a valid postponement request sent within the aforementioned time frame and accompanied by a new requested stream date, the account manager will either confirm the new booking or else suggest a new date in the event the requested date is unavailable.

3.2 Media plan

In order to advertise webinars and recruit Participants, a media plan for each webinar will be drawn up by IPD according to the style guide defined by IPD, approved by the Customer regarding advertiser webinars and brand content, and detailed on the Purchase Order.

The media plan may include the following elements, based on the formats and methods outlined on the Purchase Order: banners, square ads, inffeeds (adverts integrated within an article), emails sent by IPD to targets as defined by the Customer on IPD's suggestion.

In this context, advertiser content (and, more generally, all content provided by the Customer to IPD within the framework of the Contract) must be submitted to IPD within the time frames agreed between the parties and in accordance with the technical specifications issued by IPD.

IPD cannot be held liable and no compensation will be due to the Customer in the event IPD is led to move, modify or remove an element of the media plan for any reasons beyond its control, in particular:

- a support request from the host for an element of the media plan concerned;
- IPD receiving any third-party claims alleging infringement of their rights by all or part of the advertiser content;
- IPD's reasonable doubt relating to the potential infringement of third-party rights by all or part of the advertiser content;
- failures related to telecommunications networks (network interruption, slowdown in technical performance and response times for viewing, processing or transferring data) or technical service providers;
- inability to edit (technical difficulties);
- new regulations or injunctions by public authorities;
- in general, any force majeure including trade restrictive measures and sanctions implemented by the United Nations, the European Union and its member states, the United States, the United Kingdom and, where applicable, any jurisdiction in which this Contract is to be performed.

IPD does not guarantee exclusivity for any reason whatsoever, as a result, competing advertisers may appear simultaneously on all or part of the support website locations used in the media plan, against which no claims can be made by the Customer.

IPD cannot be held responsible under any circumstances if a failure or delay in publishing an element of the media plan results in the Customer's non-compliance with deadlines agreed between the parties, with anything stipulated in the general terms and conditions of sale and associated Purchase Orders, or technical specifications. Where applicable, no compensation or alterations to the price or duration of the Contract may be requested by the Customer.

The dates on which various elements of the media plan are to be published online are only communicated by IPD as an indication and any delays in performance of services caused by an event beyond IPD's control cannot lead to IPD being held responsible.

4. DURATION – FORCE MAJEURE

4.1 Duration

Services are contracted from the date, for the duration and for the number of webinars as stated on the Purchase Order.

4.2 Suspension and termination due to a breach

In the event the Customer fails to comply with one of their obligations under the terms of the Contract, IPD will have the right to suspend, without prior notice, the performance in full or in part of the Contract until the breach identified has been remedied. The parties agree that any such suspension may not be considered non-performance or wrongful termination of the Contract by IPD, nor will this entitle the Customer to any form of compensation.

Furthermore, in the event of the Customer's non-compliance with one of their obligations under the terms of the Contract not being corrected within a period of fifteen days from receipt of a formal notice sent by recorded delivery with acknowledgement of receipt mentioning (i) the breach concerned and (ii) the ensuing ability to resolve it, the Contract may be terminated automatically, without notice, and without any other formalities required beyond sending a notice by recorded delivery with acknowledgement of receipt notifying the other party of the termination, without prejudice to any damages IPD may claim for the breach concerned. In this case, the Contract will expire on the date of the first presentation of the termination notice.

4.3 Consequences of the end of the Contract

Upon the termination of the Contract for any reason whatsoever:

- the Customer's access to their Customer account will be deactivated by IPD;
- webinars shall remain accessible as replays from the end of the Contract excluding (i) any discretionary decisions and those withdrawn without notice by IPD and (ii) those removed at the express request of the Customer in the event of Webinars or Talks Enterprise.

As webinars may be removed at any time, it is the sole responsibility of the Customer to back up their content and files before the termination of the Contract for any reason whatsoever.

The parties expressly agree that the provisions of articles 5, 6, 8, 9 and 10 shall survive the termination of the Contract for any reason whatsoever.

4.4 In all cases, if, due to a failure on the part of the Customer alone to fulfil its obligations (failure to transmit Content, failure to validate items transmitted by IPD, etc.) and despite IPD's reminders, the Services have not been performed within a period of twelve months following the signing of the Purchase Order, the Services ordered but not used or which IPD has not been able to perform as a result will be definitively lost. They may not be carried over to a new Purchase Order, nor may they be reimbursed or give rise to any compensation whatsoever, but will be invoiced in full by IPD to the Client and will be payable by the Customer.

4.5 The Customer may decide at any time and without reason to terminate the Services without being able to claim any reduction and/or partial or total refund of the price. In this case, the full price stated in the Purchase Order will remain payable to IPD.

4.6 Force majeure With the exception of payment obligations, none of the Parties may be held responsible for a breach of its obligations should such a breach result from an event of force majeure as defined by the applicable law and interpreted by the competent courts including, in particular, any government decision.

The following are also contractually regarded as cases of force majeure: any government or administrative decision such as the withdrawal or suspension of any authorizations whatsoever, trade restrictive measures and sanctions implemented by the United Nations, the European Union and its member states, the United States, the United Kingdom and, where applicable, any jurisdiction in which this Contract is to be performed, a total or partial strike, internal or external to the company, a fire, flood, natural disaster, earthquake, act of terrorism, state of war, epidemic, pandemic, total or partial interruption or blockage of telecommunications or electrical networks, computer hacking ("Force Majeure").

The Party experiencing the Force Majeure event must immediately inform the other Party by all appropriate means of the impossibility of fulfilling its obligations.

The Force Majeure event suspends the fulfillment of obligations. The Party whose performance has been delayed shall make every reasonable commercial effort to minimize the effects of Force Majeure.

5. CUSTOMER OBLIGATIONS

5.1 The Customer undertakes to comply with the technical prerequisites attached to the Purchase Order. Otherwise, IPD cannot be held responsible for any non-performance resulting either directly or indirectly from the Customer's non-compliance with these technical prerequisites.

The Customer also undertakes to comply with the Webinar Good Practices as set out in Appendix 5.

5.2 The Customer hereby declares and guarantees:

- that services shall be exclusively dedicated to their own professional activities to the exclusion of those of any third parties, including any affiliated companies or business partners;
- they will refrain from making their access credentials to the platform available to any third parties for any reason whatsoever;
- they hold all the necessary rights and authorisations to share all data and content of any kind they intend to share with IPD for the purposes of Contract performance, including copyrights, trademarks, image rights, etc.;
- they have concluded and secured all contracts in accordance with applicable and required legislation for sharing the image and personal data of any individual directly or indirectly involved in webinars and are in a position to share these contracts with IPD immediately upon request;
- that no content shared with IPD will contain any erroneous, defamatory or abusive material, nor any material liable to infringe any rights of third parties and therefore engage IPD's responsibility or that of any companies within the INFOPRO DIGITAL® Group;
- they have sent IPD all copyright notices relating to any copyright-protected content shared with IPD that is to be published in the context of media coverage and webinar streaming;
- that no content shared with IPD will violate public order or common decency;
- that no content shared with IPD will be fraudulent, involve the promotion or sale of counterfeit or stolen goods or be liable to mislead the public, but will faithfully reflect their products and services;
- that content shared with IPD will comply with all regulations, in particular those that apply to advertising and competition.

In the event of an action or claim raised by a third party, or a competent authority or jurisdiction, against IPD or any of the companies within the INFOPRO DIGITAL® Group as a result of the Customer's failure to comply with any of the above declarations, the Customer hereby undertakes (i) to defend IPD or the company implicated in this action or claim at their own expense (through transactional or legal means) and (ii) to fully indemnify IPD or the company implicated for all damages suffered (including all expenses related to the need to manage evidence, transactional compensation, criminal or administrative fines, damages, costs and fees, expenditure, etc.). It is hereby specified that this guarantee also relates to the title(s) of webinars and their descriptions.

5.3 IPD may need to modify certain elements of webinars (excluding any brands/logos) for SEO purposes, or remove all or part of the advertiser content (if content becomes, for example, redundant or unsuitable, such as negatively influencing SEO, contrary to any legislation or contrary to the support site's editorial guidelines). It is the Customer's responsibility to verify any modifications made by IPD and to inform them, in the event of any errors, of the corrections to be made.

5.4 The Customer is solely responsible:

- for making and storing copies of all content and files shared with IPD under the terms of the Contract or made or transferred during Contract performance and before its termination for any reason whatsoever;
- for the proper functioning of their IT equipment and network connections. IPD cannot be held responsible under any circumstances for non-performance of services resulting from the Customer's malfunctioning IT equipment, network connections, etc.;
- for the consequences of not keeping their platform access credentials confidential and undertakes to inform IPD immediately of any unauthorised use of their account or loss of their access credentials;
- for the decision to enter into a commercial relationship with any users or Participants, as well as the consequences of these relationships.

5.5 Any Contract signed by the Customer is a firm and irrevocable undertaking of an order for the Customer.

If Content is not provided or items not validated within the time limits and under conditions that are given, preventing or delaying delivery of the Services by IPD, the Customer remains bound to pay all sums due under the Purchase Order according to the schedule initially provided and no reduction or partial or total refund of the price will be due to the Customer.

6. IPD OBLIGATIONS

IPD undertakes to provide services within the context of a general best-efforts obligation.

IPD may subcontract all or part of their services to any third parties of their choice but will remain solely responsible for their flawless execution towards the Customer.

IPD makes no commitments regarding the number of Registrants for or Participants in webinar(s), nor guarantees the commercial effectiveness of their services.

IPD may, for maintenance reasons, temporarily and without prior warning suspend access to webinars, which shall not give the Customer the right to hold IPD responsible in this respect, nor to request an extension of the duration of the Contract.

Given the nature of Internet networks, IPD does not guarantee the uninterrupted availability of the platform. As such, IPD cannot be held responsible under any circumstances in the event of an outage, interruption or alteration to access to the platform, support sites or webinars resulting, in particular, from failures related to telecommunications networks, the devices used by Participants and/or the Customer, or more generally any other cause that cannot be attributed to IPD.

In any case, if IPD's responsibility is called into question by a definitive and enforceable court decision, on any basis whatsoever:

- IPD will not compensate any indirect damages suffered by the Customer, including, in particular, any commercial damages, additional operating costs, loss of data, turnover, profit, goodwill or opportunity, or any damages suffered by third parties;
- the total amount of any sums due by IPD as compensation for all direct damages resulting from all contributing events combined that occur over the same contractual period may not exceed the total amount of the sums paid by the Customer under the terms of the Contract in respect of the contractual period concerned.

By accepting the general terms and conditions of sale and associated Purchase Order, the parties acknowledge and accept that (i) these provisions establish a fair distribution of risk between IPD and the Customer and that (ii) the price reflects this distribution, as well as the limitation of liability described.

The Customer undertakes to inform IPD as soon as possible of any changes to the information communicated at the time of signing the Purchase Order and, in particular, in relation to their bank details and billing address.

Any delay in the delivery of Services that cannot be imputed exclusively to IPD will result in the Services being invoiced according to the dates initially planned.

In accordance with statutory and regulatory provisions, late payment penalties will be applied in cases where the payment of sums due is made after the time limits set out above. These penalties, for an amount equal to the most recent rate applied by the Central European Bank plus 10 points, will begin to run 15 days after formal notice has remained without effect. The rate applicable during the first half of the year in question is the rate in force as at January 1st of the year in question, and that applicable for the second half of the year in question is the rate in force as at July 1st of the year in question. Further, a flat-rate indemnity of 40 € for recovery charges may be claimed.

In case of non-payment of a single invoice at its term, IPD may, thirty (30) days after formal notice has remained without effect, require immediate payment of all sums that remain outstanding from the Customer.

IPD may also suspend or terminate the Contract in accordance with article 4.2 hereinafter.

By derogation from the provisions of article 1342-10 of the Civil Code, it is expressly agreed that, if several invoices are outstanding and the Customer makes part payment, IPD will be free to apply said payment as it sees fit.

7.3 When the Customer signatory of the Purchase Order acts as a mandatary for an end client, this latter remains in any case responsible for payment, notably in case of failure by its mandator, with whom it is jointly and severally liable.

In particular, each of the Parties undertakes, within the framework of the Contract, not to directly or indirectly offer, grant, solicit or receive from a third party an undue advantage with a view to performing, delaying or omitting to perform an act required in connection with the performance of its obligations under the Contract, nor to abuse its actual or supposed influence over a third party in order to obtain from this third party an advantage in favour of the other Party.

Each of the Parties undertakes to provide the other with any assistance that may be necessary to respond to a request from a duly authorised authority relating to the fight against corruption and influence peddling.

Each Party represents and warrants to the other Party that no payment (including fees, commissions or any other improper financial advantage) nor anything of value (including, without limitation, improper gifts, travel, meals or entertainment) has been or will be offered directly or indirectly, to any employee, director or officer of the other Party for the purpose of obtaining the execution of this Contract, a Purchase Order and/or facilitating its execution or renewal.

APPENDIX 4: TECHNICAL PREREQUISITES

Bandwidth

For speakers

To host a webinar in optimal conditions, here are the minimum upload and download bandwidth levels required per speaker:

	Minimum upload bandwidth per speaker	Minimum download bandwidth per speaker
1 speaker	3.5 Mb ps	2 Mbps
2 speakers	3.5 Mb ps	3.5 Mbps
3 speakers	3.5 Mb ps	5 Mbps
4 speakers	3.5 Mb ps	6.5 Mbps

Hosting a web conference with upload bandwidth of between 1 and 3.5 Mbps introduces risks such as dropped connections and sound and image problems. At this bandwidth level, use of webcams and sharing PDF documents, as well as the quality of the webinar itself, are compromised.

You cannot host a webinar with upload bandwidth levels below 1 Mbps.

For attendees

A minimum download speed of 2 Mbps is required to view the stream with total stability. When Participants are on the same network, you need to multiply the minimum download speeds required by the number of Participants to find out the overall bandwidth required.

Opening of ports

If you have a firewall that allows traffic based on IP addresses, ports or protocols, or a proxy that blocks certain IP addresses, it is vital:

- You open TCP port 443
- You open UDP port 3478

UDP is highly recommended over TCP for better audio and video quality. For the best possible results, we recommend opening UDP ports 1025 – 65535,

Computer, browser

We recommend you use an up-to-date browser and PC. Avoid using Safari or Opera, some versions of which are not compatible with Webikeo. We recommend using video equipment and an external audio device with a USB connection.

For hosts and speakers: you must use Google Chrome (from 75+) or Mozilla Firefox (from 70+) on a computer to stream your video, sound and content.

Technical preparations

Webikeo organises technical preparations by phone. Preparations must take place under the same conditions as the live stream: same Internet connection, webcam, microphone and network configuration. Invitations for technical preparations are sent out upon approval of your webinar file. Webinar hosts (managers, speakers and moderators) are encouraged to schedule a time for their technical preparations as soon as possible upon receipt of an email asking them to do so. Technical preparations with our dedicated department must take place at least 5 working days before the webinar. Without these technical preparations, the webinar cannot take place under the optimal conditions recommended by Webikeo.

Live broadcast

We ask that speakers are present in the webinar room around 30 minutes before the webinar in order to carry out any final checks necessary for a successful start to the event.

APPENDIX 5: WEBINAR GOOD PRACTICES

Practices to follow when hosting a webinar :

1. Be truthful and accurate: Avoid disseminating inaccurate, misleading or deceptive information. Make sure that all the data you present is accurate and well-founded.
2. Avoid denigrating your competitors: Stay focused on highlighting your own products or services without mentioning your competitors, even if a question from the audience prompts you to do so.
3. Be courteous: Please use appropriate language and interact courteously with your audience.
4. Communicate clearly and concisely: Avoid complicated speeches and answers. Present your information clearly and concisely to make it easier to understand.

6. Use quality visual aids: If you use slides or visual aids, make sure they are of high quality and easy to read. Avoid blurred images and information overload.
7. Prepare thoroughly: Rehearse your presentation several times before the webinar to ensure that it runs smoothly. Also carry out a technical check beforehand to avoid last-minute unforeseen events.
8. Add real value: Make sure your webinar offers real value to your audience. Deliver practical, useful information that they can apply to their lives or work.
9. Monitor comments and feedback: Following the webinar, monitor comments and feedback from your audience. This will help you improve your future webinars and better meet the needs of your audience.
10. Be transparent about your objectives: From the outset, be explicit about what your audience can expect from the webinar and what objectives you want to achieve.

By following these guidelines, you'll be able to offer a high-quality, informative and interactive webinar that benefits your audience, your company and your brands.
